Judith coming home after pirates ordeal

Relief: Judith Tebbutt after her release.

JOY and relief have greeted the news that a British woman kidnapped in Kenya more than six months ago has been released by Somali pirates.

Judith Tebbutt, 56, was taken prisoner last September from an exclusive resort island on the Kenyan coast by gunmen who had murdered her husband David, 58, who grew up in Haverhill.

Road, Haverhill, was not aware of Mrs Tebbutt's release until contacted by the Weekly News yesterday. He stayed in contact with the Tebbutts when they moved to Hertfordshire, where they lived with son Oliver, and has kept in touch with David's older brother Paul since events last September.

He said: "It is fantastic news. I am obviously overjoyed for Olly and all the family. It is great news it has been a tough time for them.

"I have spoken to Paul on a number of occasions and although they had feared she might be dead, they always kept the hope that she was still alive.

"They had not heard anything. The British authorities would not negotiate with these people and did not want to give them any publicity.

"It is going to be hard for Olly and Jude without David and you don't know what effect it could have had on her being held prisoner for all that time. I am sure everyone in Haverhill who knew them both will be really happy that she is alive and free."

Mrs Tebbutt confessed to "very hard psychological moments" during her captivity.

After her release yesterday morning, the 56-year-old Bishop's Stortford mother of one said: "I'm very relieved to have been released.

THANKS to the interest shown in this column, we're in a position to launch the Dragons' Den-style initiative which we promised in the first article back in November last year.

As we know, during these difficult economic times there is a need to encourage the creation of new businesses whose growth can generate employment opportunities in the local community.

The panel of Haverhill Dragons – styled after the group of business gurus who offer investment into promising new firms in return for a share in the hit BBC TV show Dragons' Den – wish to provide the benefit of their experience and demonstrate that even in times such as these, a business can still prosper if the key fundamentals are in place from the start.

I am delighted to announce that we have secured the backing of our local MP Matthew Hancock, and in addition the panel will also include Howard Lay, the principal of Samuel Ward Upper School; Paul Sullivan, the local Lloyds Senior Commercial Business Manager; Steve Catchpole, director of Coach Me; Darren Waddup of Waddup Windows, and finally, the three directors of CXG: Elaine Grubb, Robin Pilley and Daniel Pilley.

The competition will be divided into two but the key areas the judges will be considering include:

- Is the idea put forward commercially viable?
- The approach of the applicant – have they shown determination and commitment when facing challenges?
- Is their business scalable?
- Is the idea they present investable?
- What entrepreneurial initiative have they shown in the past?
- What market research have they done to demonstrate their product or idea can be turned into a profit-making business?
- How much passion do they demonstrate for starting their own business?

- How well have they presented their idea?
- What are the financial requirements of their business and how will the investment be utilised?
- What vision do they have for their business over the first three years of its development?
- How focused and driven are they as individuals?
- How robust is their business plan?

The process will be the same for both competitions and the criteria for each is as follows:

Competition One

- Entrants must be aged 18 and above.
- It must be a start-up business.

Competition Two

- Entrants must be up to the age of 21.

- It must be a start-up business.

We have managed to raise a £10,000 prize pot and the winner of each category will receive £5,000 to assist in the establishment of their business. The panel will receive an equity share of the business and the successful applicants will receive mentoring from the Dragons and have access to their experience and contacts.

Entrants have until the Thursday, May 31 to submit their ideas. We will be paring these entries down to a shortlist of six for each competition.

The six chosen by the judging panel will be presented in the Weekly News and the readers will vote for their three finalists in each category.

The final judging will take place in early June at CXG's head office at 12a High Street, Haverhill.

I would like to personally thank the judging panel who have put the time and effort into making this initiative possible. It is a fantastic opportunity for the two winners.

■ Send details of your business idea to: Robin Pilley, Private and Confidential, Dragons Competition, c/o CXG Property Services, 12a High Street, Haverhill, CB9 8AR.

Local focus: Thomas Edwards

When did you start your business?

About two years ago with the help of my family. It took almost six months to find the right location and then we had the added problem of completely renovating the property, which took a further four months. We opened on February 19, 2011.

What were your reasons and motivation?

Haverhill is my home town and I felt there was a genuine gap in the market for a more comfortable and relaxed experience for men, that also offers a wider choice of service and men's grooming products but, also in a relaxing environment.

What is your business?

A traditional Gentlemen's

barbers offering haircuts to old-style wet shaves!

What differentiates you from competitors?

I believe attention to detail; we offer a traditional wet shave service without having to make a prior appointment, a very comfortable and relaxing environment offering complimentary tea, coffee, chilled soft drinks and a nice cold beer (over 18s only) for our customers. We also have free wi-fi, daily papers and a selection of men's magazines to read, as well as a large 50in TV to watch.

How important was advertising to you as a start-up?

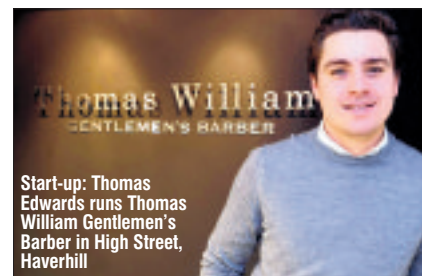

Advertising was a very important tool when I started the business as I offered half-price haircuts and wet shaves and was astounded at the response. I have since run a similar promotion now the business has reached its first year of trading and again am astounded at the response.

What methods did you use to make people aware of the service you provide?

Advertising in the Weekly News, I had people handing out leaflets up and down the High Street, I had over 6,000 fliers delivered direct through people's letterboxes throughout the town and surrounding villages and good old fashioned word of mouth.

What has been your greatest achievement?

Start-up: Thomas Edwards runs Thomas William Gentlemen's Barber in High Street, Haverhill

As I am only 21 years old, my greatest achievement has been realising my ambition and dream of opening a high-quality Gentlemen's barbers. This I have achieved with the help of family, friends and my work colleague Dexter.

What five top tips would you give our readers to help them set up and run a successful business?

Have a good business plan – never underestimate the financial cost of setting up your business; get as much help and advice as you can; always treat your customers with respect; recruit and retain the right staff; keep developing and striving to improve to push your business forward.

We can't wait: Pupils at Burton End Primary School in Haverhill help mayor Maureen Byrne and town councillor Roger Andre launch the Olympic Torch route through Haverhill, which will start from their school.

Three vehicles are set on fire

RESIDENTS were woken in the early hours of Sunday to find three vehicles on fire close to their homes. Police are appealing for information about the blaze in Cornwallis Road, Haverhill, at about 4am, in which a VW van, a Transit van and a car were destroyed. The fire service put out the fire, which had spread to some fencing. Sgt Sarah Bartley said: "We are very concerned about the potential consequences of a fire like this within a residential area." It is believed the fire was started deliberately. Anyone with information should contact Haverhill Police on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Phone and iPad stolen

A SMARTPHONE and an Apple iPad were stolen by thieves who damaged a window to get into a house. The break-in happened between 1.50pm and 2.55pm on Monday, March 19, in Wrattling Road, Haverhill. The phone and the iPad, which had a personal message etched onto the reverse, were stolen from within. Calls relating to the burglary or the whereabouts of the stolen items should be made to Suffolk Police on 101.

PRIMARY school pupils got some flag-waving practice in on Monday when they helped launch the route the Olympic Torch will take as it passes through their town.

The children at Burton End Primary in Haverhill joined mayor Maureen Byrne and town councillor Roger Andre in confirming the street-level route and Torchbearer places in Haverhill, through which the flame will be carried during the London 2012 Olympic Torch Relay.

Paralympian wheelchair basketball player Caroline Maclean is one of a team of 11 people chosen to carry the torch through the town.

Caroline, 36, who will be part of the British team for the fourth time,

Leading lights named for Torch relay will carry the torch in her home town. Doing the same will be 13-year-old Isabelle Gower, who along with her family and friends has raised thousands of pounds for charity since her sister Jessica died from bone cancer in December 2010 when she was just 14.

Others carrying the flame through Haverhill are Keren Goff, 32, from Cambridge; Ryan Tutthill, 15, from Bury St Edmunds; Claire Scarff, 44, from Thetford; Dingfeng Liang, 41, from Shenyang City; Elodie Lafosse, 17, from Colchester; Holly Lambert, 12, from Waltham Abbey; Keith Church, 45, from Banbury; Stacey Johnson, 20, from Hertfordshire and Xiaodong Du, 42, from Daging Heilongjiang in China.

Cllr Byrne said: "It is going to be tremendous and I am sure our community is going to be out on the streets and so proud that the torch is coming through Haverhill. It is going to put our town on the map as a great place to live and work. It also gives our business community a great opportunity to promote themselves."

Faye Tussler, head teacher at Burton End, said: "We are very excited about it. We will be opening the school on the Saturday and our staff are very enthusiastic and have already volunteered to come in. It is very inspiring and a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for the children."

The route of the torch through Haverhill on Saturday, July 7 is as follows: it arrives 2.39pm at Burton End, then follows Camps Road, Market Hill, High Street, Hamlet Road, Mount Road, A143 Ehringhausen Way, Lord's Croft Lane, Wrattling Road, then Ann Suckling Road.

The torch then moves on to arrive in Newmarket at 5.29pm.

Matthew Hancock MP wrote to relay organisers seeking to ensure Caroline's part in the relay would be through Haverhill.

He said: "I am delighted that the Olympic authorities have acted with such good sense to ensure Caroline Maclean can carry the Torch through Haverhill. Caroline is the town's Olympian, and this decision will be a boost for Caroline and the whole town. The torch's trip through Haverhill is recognition that this is a town on the up, and I'm sure it's a day everyone is looking forward to."

Prayers answered as Judith released

Shock: how David Tebbutt's murder and Judith's kidnapping were reported in the Weekly News on September 15 last year.

"Seven months is a long time, and under the circumstances with my husband passing away . . . made it harder."

It is believed Oliver – a 25-year-old bespoke furniture maker – and the rest of her family raised a ransom, which was air-dropped to her captors, after her freedom was brokered by a private security firm.

Mrs Tebbutt, a social worker at Kneesworth House psychiatric hospital near Royston, said as she savoured the end of her ordeal: "I'm looking forward to seeing my son, who successfully secured my release. I don't know how he did it, but he did, which is great."

Her terror began on Sunday, September 11 last year. She and her 58-year-old husband – a finance director with publisher Faber and Faber – had transferred to the Kiwayu Safari Village, near the border with Somalia, after enjoying a break in Kenya's Masai Mara game reserve. They were the only guests at the resort.

During a night-time attack, it is believed Mr Tebbutt was shot as he tried to protect his deaf wife from their armed attackers.

The gunmen then forced terrified Judith into a speedboat – but she only learned of his passing later from Oliver.

She said: "I didn't know he'd died till about two weeks after my capture. I just assumed he was alive, but then my son told me . . . that was difficult."

Mrs Tebbutt was taken inland by her kidnappers as her family and the British Government tried to negotiate her freedom amid a publicity blackout.

She said just before her release that she was not mistreated during her incarceration: "I'm looking forward to seeing my son and my family, and I'm going home."

"I feel fine. I've had absolutely no torture whatsoever. In fact, I've been made to feel as comfortable as possible by the pirates that are holding me."

Mrs Tebbutt was expected to be flown to Nairobi, before returning to the UK.

Prayers were said at Haverhill's parish church last September in memory of Mr Tebbutt and for the safe return of his Mrs Tebbutt.

Pupils face up to science challenge

HOW to make an egg float and the DNA of a kiwi fruit were just some of the puzzles tackled by primary school children during their science day.

Pupils at Coupals Primary School in Haverhill held a Science Challenge Day, which was part of the National Science and Engineering week.

Each class was involved with different practical challenges in which the children had to investigate, explore and find solutions.

Class Key Stage 2 became forensic scientists, who had to search for clues to who stole their class laptop or find the DNA of a kiwi fruit.

Class Key Stage 1 investigated how to make an egg float and measuring the volume of lungs.

A spokesman for the school said: "We took this opportunity to celebrate and appreciate the importance of science and how it helps us.

"It was very busy day, with a wide variety of experimenting."

Seeing is believing: Hannah Leach gets a close look at her subject, right, while Amber Veasey, Molly Start and Flynn Kennedy conduct experiments, left.

Shopping choice 'gets 3 out of 10'

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

SHOPPERS have delivered a damning verdict on Haverhill's town centre – and councillors are bidding to get Queen of Shops Mary Portas involved to give it a boost.

Retail expert Debbie Kemp said although shoppers rated the range of shops in Haverhill as only 3 out of 10, she felt the town had great potential and if one major retail chain could be persuaded to open in its High Street, others would follow.

Members of St Edmundsbury Borough council's Haverhill Area working Party received the results of a shoppers' survey carried out by Kent Business School on phase one of their Destination Haverhill project to revive the town centre.

The first phase had been a shopping habits survey which received 538 responses and showed huge gaps in the town's offering for clothing, toys, music, games and sportswear. A massive 76 per cent of shoppers thought the town needed a better range of shops and many also complained that it had too many betting shops and charity shops.

Ms Kemp, who spent many years working for Marks & Spencer, said: "Haverhill has a lot of positive attributes; it has great accessibility and there are parking spaces. Success breeds success and it would only take one big store like Next to come and others would follow. People don't just want cheap goods, they want better quality, mid-priced items. There is a huge opportunity, because there are so many things you are unable to buy here at the moment.

"You have to stem the decline first. Private landlords are in control and must be encouraged not to just take the first betting shop that comes along as that won't add anything to the footfall."

Andrea Mayley of St Edmundsbury Borough Council, who has also been working on the project, said: "One of the things we have been trying to do is to track down private landlords. The hardest thing is getting them to engage, because they are just not interested." The council owns the large vacant former Co-op store in Jubilee Walk and Ms Mayley said it was contacting major retailers to try to persuade them to take on the building.

Colin Richards said he had been a retailer in Haverhill for almost 40 years and felt the town lacked the vibrancy it used to have. He said: "A lot of it is that people don't know where they can drive or where they can park – there is a lot of confusion."

Cllr Paul McManus said he believed high rents and business rates were 'strangling' the town's businesses.

Cllr Anne Gower Cllr Gower agreed the high street was struggling. She said: "The alleyways from the car parks are not attractive, but they are within private ownership and there is a big issue about private landlords."

Cllr Tim Marks said: "We need to take control of what is happening in our town, but we seem to be powerless to do so."

Members were told that as part of the second phase of the project, Haverhill would be bidding to become one of 12 towns taking part in a pilot scheme in which shops guru Mary Portas would look at what could be done to improve their high streets.

There would also be work with the current independent retailers, to give them "master-classes" and get them to "up their game".

Plans to ban traffic from town centre are dropped

Vision: an artist's impression of the plans for the town centre.

PLANS to ban traffic from the town centre have come to a halt after the current scheme was dropped in the face of strong opposition and a "Plan B" soundly rejected by councillors.

Members of the Haverhill Area Working Party agreed after a lengthy debate to go ahead with repaving and enhancement work as part of a £750,000 improvement scheme for Haverhill High Street, but not to proceed with traffic orders which would have banned all traffic between 10am and 4pm. An alternative plan put forward by officers to allow delivery vehicles and Blue Badge-holders to drive down Jubilee Walk attracted no support.

Luke Barber of Suffolk County Council's Highways design team said they had received 108 responses to their consultation on the scheme and only 33 per cent of these were in favour of full pedestrianisation of the High Street. There was a considerable risk, as 18 objections raised could not be overcome, that the scheme might not be approved at a public inquiry.

An alternative scheme had been created to avoid traffic using the High Street as a 'rat-run' by preventing cars going beyond Jubilee Walk, which would become a shared space for pedestrians and cars, so that delivery vehicles and Blue Badge-holders could use it as an exit route.

Cllr Anne Gower said money had been spent upgrading Jubilee Walk recently and she would find it difficult to justify the cost of ripping it up again. She said: "I don't think it is a time to be digging up the High Street when we are trying to get more people into the town. I don't see how Plan B helps the problem of people parking in the high street. Whatever scheme we have, what it needs is enforcement."

Cllr Maureen Byrne said she was amazed at the result of the consultation. She said: "If I speak to people in my ward, 90 per cent of them would want pedestrianisation because it is safe. They know when they can cross the road and when they can't. There is no-one who feels more strongly than I do that we need strong businesses in the high street, but this needs compromise. Some businesses have fantastic rear access and I see know reason why it could not be used by others."

Mark Chapman of Chapman and Son said building work at the moment would be a "disaster". He said: "Last time the street was dug up, we lost 30 per cent of our trade every day for months. You did not even get 50 people who wanted pedestrianisation, people want to be able to park outside a shop."

Businesses were against scheme

HAVERHILL Chamber of Commerce officially objected to plans to pedestrianise parts of the town centre after more than 40 retailers signed a letter against the proposals.

The Chamber, which exists to represent the voice of Haverhill's business community, said in a statement it was believed that the plans would seriously impact on the retailers of the town, who were already challenged by the current economic climate.

The Chamber gathered together a group, which included most of the traders and businesses on the high street (both members and non-members), who were affected by the proposal and wrote to Suffolk County Council on their behalf. More than 40 traders and businesses signed the letter.

Sarah Howard, Chairman of Haverhill Chamber of Commerce, said: "We broadly agree that the current excessive use of the high street by cars cannot carry on. However, many businesses could not operate effectively with complete lack of access. We have several very workable suggestions to put to the county council and have invited them to meet with us to discuss them."

Members of the Chamber attended the Haverhill Area Working Party meeting at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College, where the plans were discussed.

Barnardiston Hall Preparatory School

PARENTS and grandparents went along to a special assembly at a prep school.

The pre-prep department at Barnardiston Hall Preparatory School celebrated Mother's Day with a special assembly, led by two 6-year olds. It was a celebration of everything mothers do, including cuddles, kisses and the washing-up. Full of songs, prayers and poems the children had written, the celebrations started with a breakfast of coffee and croissants and finished with presents of daffodils for every mummy present.

Mrs Richardson, vice principal and head of pre-prep, said: "We have a wonderful group of mums at the school and the children wanted to do something special for them to show their appreciation. Even our two-year-old nursery children joined in, dressing as bunny rabbits and singing their own song (pictured)."

CHIROPODIST Sheila Hannah, above, is celebrating the publication of her first book at the age of 60.

Sheila, who lives in Great Wrattling will be signing copies of her book Feet Owners Manual, written under the pen name of Rebecca Joseph, on Wednesday, April 18 at Waterstone's in Bury St Edmunds from 11am.

Sheila, who qualified as a chiropodist and holistic therapist in 2000 after working in hospital administration, was thrilled when Cambridge publisher Pegasus Elliot Mackenzie agreed to publish her first non-fiction book, which is available from March 29.

Sheila said: "I have been writing for years, but you could have knocked me down with a feather when they said they were going to publish my book.

"A lot of my customers had said I should write a book and it covers everything about looking after your feet from in-growing toenails to stuff you can do in the office to help your feet.

"I have worn stiletto heels and I know what it is to suffer from foot pain for one reason or another. It is just to help people learn a bit more about their feet and how to look after them."

Ketton Players

KETTON Players' latest production is the gentle comedy by Derek Benfield, Over My Dead Body, being staged next weekend.

Following his wife's death, Gerald hopes to spend the rest of his days alone with his memories. However, before she died his wife made plans with family and friends (including the daily help), to look after him.

As they all converge on Gerald's home with their well-intentioned plans, he has to hastily find a way out of the chaos which ensues.

Performances are on Friday, March 30 and Saturday, March 31 at Kedington Community Centre, with doors open at 7pm, curtain up 7.30pm.

Tickets price are £6.50 (concessions £5.50), available on the door, from Kedington Butchers, Kedington Stores or by ringing Sue on (01440) 704320.

Vehicles torched in nearby streets

ARSONISTS are being hunted by police after a van and car were set alight in neighbouring streets. Firefighters were first called to Landseer Court, Haverhill, at 4.10am on Sunday where they found a van ablaze, and the flames spreading to another van and 10m of fencing. After crews extinguished the fire they were called to Gloucester Road, where a car was in flames. Both incidents are being treated as deliberate. Anyone with information should call Suffolk police on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Moped stolen from garage

A MOPED was stolen from a garage broken into by burglars. Between 11pm on March 16 and 11am the following day, the garage in a block in Chaplains Close, Haverhill, was entered after the door was forced and a black and silver Qingqi QM507-10R 50cc moped was stolen. The bike, registration EU11 GXX, has silver front panels with black stickers, black rear panels with white stickers and bright red handle grips. Anyone with information about the offence should contact Haverhill Police on 101.

Kitchen blaze extinguished

FIREFIGHTERS were called to reports of a house fire. Two crews from Haverhill attended a home in Mill Road, Kedington, at 1.30pm on March 17 but on arrival to find a kitchen fire had already been extinguished. Once the building was deemed safe, the crews returned to their office by 1.45pm.

Thief flees with clothes and shoes

A LARGE bag containing clothes, shoes and make-up was stolen from a car. The theft happened between 5pm and 11pm on March 15 outside an address in Hamlet Road, Haverhill. Anyone with any information should contact Sgt Sarah Bartley on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Appeal after car break-in bid fails

A CAR owner who went to check on his vehicle was confronted by two men – one wielding a golf club.

The incident happened in Atterton Road, Haverhill, at about 7pm on Saturday.

A vigilant resident saw two men acting suspiciously near a parked car and told the vehicle's owner, who went out to investigate and was confronted by the two men. He was sworn at but not threatened and the men left in a dark blue hatchback.

It is thought they were going to use the golf club to break into the car.

The man with the club is described as 5ft 8ins tall, in his mid-20s, stocky and with short dark hair. He was wearing a light coloured jacket and dark trousers.

The other man was 5ft 8ins, thin and wearing a light jacket and dark trousers.

Witnesses to the incident should call police on 101.

Ancient remains may delay Research Park

Pupils turn newshounds

PRIMARY school pupils have been trying their hands as newshounds as they prepare to leave their old classrooms and move into a new building.

Youngsters aged just 5 and 6 at Westfield Primary School in Haverhill have been investigating communication in the world and collecting information to produce their own newspaper next week.

Weekly News reporter Jo Deeks went along to give them a few tips on writing their stories.

Teachers Clare Bowyer and Michelle Hopkins set up their own Westfield news centre for pupils and had also looked at television news reporting.

Clare Bowyer said: "As this is one of our last weeks at the old Westfield building we thought it would be nice to write a newspaper, showcasing our thoughts, feelings and memories as we leave the original Westfield."

A new Westfield school was built in Chalkstone Way, close to Samuel Ward Academy, and pupils will move there on March 17.

Ex-teachers invited to school celebration – page 9

SIGNS of a possible Roman or Iron Age settlement could delay Haverhill Research Park and add more than £200,000 to the project's cost.

Planning consent has already been granted for the site at Hanchett End as well as a pub, a crèche and 150 houses.

But five trenches dug on the site have revealed fragments of pottery and post holes which could be from gates or fences around a homestead – and archaeologists have said they want further investigation carried out on about half of the site.

Nic Rumsey, a director of Carisbrooke Investments, which is developing the 30-acre site, gave an update on its progress to member of the bestofhaverhill group.

He said he plans to be on site by June, starting work to provide roads and infrastructure, which would be completed by January next year.

Mr Rumsey added: "We made a viability argument for the scheme, which is why we got permission for the higher-value uses like the pub and the houses."

"I don't know where I am going to get the money from for this – I am as keen on history as anyone and I do understand why this is happening but I hope there is going to be some flexibility so that the Research Park can go ahead."

"The latest developments are obviously

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

another hurdle that we will have to surmount.

"Suffolk County Council and St Edmundsbury County Council have both been very positive and supportive of the project so far and I am hoping that this latest issue can be resolved with the minimum of disruption to our timeline and budget."

"I am confident that the Haverhill Research Park will become a reality. Our aspirations for this development are that it will be 'best in class' and comparable to anything on offer in Cambridge."

"We will be able to offer people a highly attractive environment to live and work. It will create an impressive gateway into Haverhill from Cambridge and I feel it will raise the aspirations of the town."

Elaine Carr, owner of thebestofhaverhill, said: "The challenges that Nic and his team have faced over the past few years have been huge."

"The downturn in the economy has had far-reaching implications for the project but Nic's commitment to delivering the Haverhill Research Park has not faltered. I hope the people of Haverhill will give the project their full backing as it enters the final, critical phases."

Big boost: members of the Community Hospice Team and St Nicholas Hospice Care staff celebrate Big Lottery funding of £169,569.

CP

Lottery cash will help run key team

HOSPICE staff members are celebrating being awarded almost £170,000 in lottery funding.

St Nicholas Hospice Care's Community Hospice Team was awarded £169,569 from the Big Lottery Fund, which will part-fund a year's core running costs of the team.

The service helps patients suffering life-shortening illness to receive specialist care in their own homes where possible.

The team was set up in March 2009 and has since supported hundreds of patients and their families. Thanks to the grant, a team of palliative care professionals will continue to work alongside district nurses and GPs to provide planned and emergency care.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Barbara Gale, hospice chief Executive, said the charity was delighted with the grant – but warned that the hospice still relied on the support of the communities of West Suffolk and Thetford.

She said: "The Community Hospice Team is a vital service which plays a pivotal role enabling patients to remain in their own homes for as long as possible and still receive dedicated and specialist care.

"So many patients prefer to receive care in their own homes, surrounded by their family, pets and possessions, and we believe where possible patients have the right to receive this.

"But while this grant is so wonderful and welcome, it only equates to less than two weeks of our annual operating costs of £4.8m.

"In these uncertain financial times, we still very much need the support of the entire community."

Trevor Farrington, head of the Community Hospice Team, said: "We are overjoyed at receiving this award from the Big Lottery Fund.

"The Community Hospice Team has been a great success since it was launched, helping patients, where possible, to remain at home in the final weeks of their life.

"We have already helped hundreds of patients across West Suffolk and Thetford and we are delighted that this valued service can continue for the next year and beyond thanks to this grant."

Have a good laugh and help hospice at comedy festival

PLENTY of laughs are on offer this weekend at a two-day comedy festival to boost hospice funds.

Haverhill Comedy Festival is being held at the town's Arts Centre to raise funds for St Nicholas Hospice Care on Saturday and Sunday.

The event will feature fun and laughter for the whole family, starting at 2.30pm on Saturday with popular entertainer Wayne Goodman, with comedy and magic suitable for all ages. There is no entrance fee, but donations to the hospice are welcome.

At 8pm on Saturday an open-mic night will be held, hosted by Wayne, with budding comedians taking part. On the line-up so far are Jon Mufin, Jason Stamp, Andy Storey, Dan McKee, Ash Frith, Stu Privett and Josh Bunting. The suggested donation for this event is £5.

On Sunday, Monkey Nuts Comedy Club will round up the festival. Tickets cost £9 members and £10.50 non-members, including a £2 donation to the Hospice.

Abby Mayes, hospice corporate fundraiser, said: "This festival has something for everyone and will raise money for a very worthy charity, so I urge people to support it, especially by going along to one of the 'donation' events on Saturday.

"They'll be able to enjoy and afternoon or evening of laughter while helping to support a great cause."

For more information or to book tickets, contact Haverhill Arts Centre box office on (01440) 714140 or see www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk.

Kevin wants to inspire people to keep giving

A NEW director of fundraising and marketing has been appointed by St Nicholas Hospice Care.

Kevin Clements has joined the Bury St Edmunds-based hospice, which serves the community of West Suffolk and Thetford. He joined the hospice in July 2010 as partnerships fundraising manager, before being appointed to the director role in February.

Before joining St Nicholas Hospice Care, Kevin was involved with fundraising projects for Sue Ryder Care, Suffolk Mind and the MS Society – including a capital project which raised £2.5m in 12 months.

He said: "My aim is to continue to inspire the community to keep giving to us and supporting us, to develop our income streams, improve the hospice's digital presence and increase our national profile."

Jail term begins for child abuser

A MAN who assaulted a vulnerable five-year-old boy left in his care has been jailed.

Daniel Batt, 30, left the boy's buttocks covered in bruises after losing his temper, Ipswich Crown Court heard on Monday.

Batt, of Lower North Street, Hundon, was sentenced to 16 months for assault causing actual bodily harm and a further two months for breaching a restraining order.

He had pleaded guilty to both offences.

Prosecutor Michael Crimp told the court heard that on the evening of July 7 last year, Batt had been left in charge of the boy. The following morning, while dressing the boy for school, his mother noticed the bruises.

Initially she had feared the marks were a symptom of meningitis. But after taking him to a doctor she was told it was bruising caused by blows delivered with "significant force".

Because of the boy's problems with communication, it only became clear what had happened when the youngster was able to act out the incident for a social worker and a doctor.

After being arrested, Batt declined to answer police questions. While inquiries into the assault were continuing, he arrived at the woman's home despite being banned from doing so by a restraining order.

The woman managed to shut the door before Batt could get inside and he ran off. The restraining order had been imposed by magistrates last September for a public order incident involving Batt.

In a letter read to the court by defence barrister Richard Potts, Batt expressed his remorse for the offences and apologised to the woman.

Batt said: "I feel I let her down that day. I know she was upset and I wanted to say sorry."

Since the incidents Batt, who has problems with his temper, has contacted a counsellor has been attending sessions.

Judge Rupert Overbury told Batt that his victim was a "particularly vulnerable child" and the incident was also a gross breach of trust.

Ex-teachers invited to school celebration

FORMER staff members at a primary school which is closing to move to a new building are invited to a farewell party.

Westfield Primary School in Haverhill is holding gathering for any ex-members of staff who have taught at the school since it opened in 1976. The late afternoon tea party will be held tomorrow from 5pm until 7 pm.

A spokesman for the school said: "It will be a great opportunity for everyone to get together before the move to the new building takes place and Wonderful Westfield's new chapter begins.

"A huge amount of time has been invested by Mrs Rosie Campbell and her team to provide a building which will cater for the needs of all the children and the end result is beautiful. The children, governors and staff had been visiting regularly and have monitored the progress from the start. Bulbs have been planted and everyone is looking forward to a super springtime start."

Chemo boost for sufferers

A HAVERHILL woman has helped launch a chemotherapy service which will be extended across the community.

The service, started by Addenbrooke's, will mean people fighting cancer can be treated close to home instead of having to make regular hospital trips.

Addenbrooke's nurses are travelling to GP surgeries to administer chemotherapy and other supportive treatments.

St Clements in Haverhill and East Barnwell Health Centre in Cambridge are the first doctors' surgeries to participate, on Tuesdays and Fridays respectively.

The new service has been well-received by patients and it is hoped that other locations can be added during the year.

Rita Bateman from Haverhill, who was the new service's first patient, said: "It's just wonderful to be able to receive my treatment just round the corner rather than having to come into hospital.

"It is very welcoming and relaxing and I'm really well looked after. It's just fantastic."

Dr Pippa Corrie, consultant medical oncologist in charge of the Cancer Outreach project, said: "Our trial showed that patients were generally happy with their treatment, whether delivered in the hospital or the community.

"More patients would choose to receive treatment in the community, nearer to where they live, however, if they had the choice in the future.

"We hope the convenience of community treatment contributes to improving patients overall quality of life."

Anyone receiving cancer treatment at Addenbrooke's who would like to take advantage of this new service can talk to their medical team who will be happy to provide them with more information.

Youngsters get on the write track

PUPILS at a primary school have been taking their turn to write a chapter in a "torch book" which is circulating in Haverhill.

The youngsters at Coupals Primary in Haverhill began writing their section of the book after it was brought to them by pupils from Place Farm Primary School. It was set to be handed over to New Cangle Primary School for the next chapter to be completed, before its journey continues.

Fiona Barnard, a Year 2 teacher of Frogs class at Coupals, said: "The chapter is going well and the children are really enjoying themselves coming up with lots of ideas. They hope to be creating another fantastic chapter."

For more information about the project, visit www.torchbook.org.

Mill Road-based D'n'A Hair Studio opens on Saturday

A BRAND new salon is about to launch in Haverhill, with a familiar face at the helm.

D'n'A Hair Studio, on Mill Road, is set to open with a bang this Saturday, run by experienced hairdresser Debbie Lee.

Debbie, who previously owned a salon, has been working as a school teacher for the past six years, while simultaneously styling her loyal clients – who she wishes to thank for sticking with her over the years.

She's now set to open a salon alongside her daughter Aimee, as well as Pamela Jacobs who will be renting a chair in the salon on an appointment.

The fully refurbished salon will be dealing with Wella for most of its products and colours, and will specialise in the Brazilian blow dry – a smoothing, conditioning treatment that lasts around three months. Gift vouchers are also available.

Qualified teacher Debbie is planning to run workshops to help you achieve the salon look at home, and specialist styling techniques, see website for more details.

Visit D'n'A Hair at 4 Mill Road, Haverhill. For more information call (01440) 268414 or go to www.dnahairstudio.co.uk.

D'n'A Hair: Open on Saturday with an open evening tomorrow from 5 to 8pm.

Burglary pair are caught on camera

POLICE have released CCTV images of two men following a burglary at a farm.

The incident in Stoke-by-Clare happened at about 1.20pm on Wednesday, March 14, when the pair pulled up on the main road in a flatbed truck, then walked into an open garage and began removing items.

Electrical cable, a Bosch jigsaw and 30kg of brass tack fittings were all taken during the raid.

On Monday, police released CCTV images from the premises of the two men.

Anyone who recognises them or has any information is asked to contact PC Carl Edley on 101, or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Police appeal after yob snatches purse

POLICE are hunting for a teenager who barged into a pensioner's Haverhill home and snatched her purse.

The youth, described as 18 to 19 and wearing dark clothes, knocked on the door of the victim's home in Old Clements Lane and asked to use the phone because his grandmother was ill.

When the victim declined he forced his way into the house, picked up the purse from a work surface and fled. The purse contained about £40.

The burglary happened between 5.50pm and 6pm on Saturday.

Police have now urged people who saw anybody acting suspiciously in the area or who know anything about the crime to come toward.

Sgt Sarah Bartley also urged vulnerable residents not to open the door to strangers and to seek crime prevention advice from the police.

She said: "If you don't know who it is, don't answer the door. Always keep a chain on your door. There is a near neighbour scheme to help people decide whether a caller is genuine.

"We are more than happy to go out personally to give crime-prevention advice which can stop something like this happening."

Anyone with any information is asked to contact DC James Cassidy, on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

For crime prevention advice, ring (01473) 613500 and ask for the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team.

Baby terrapin found wandering around car park

A TINY terrapin was rescued by an animal shelter after being spotted in a busy car park.

Named Cupid because of the yellow arrow on his back, the youngster was found in the car park behind Argos in Haverhill by a young man from Bury St Edmunds, who took him to the Jaybeth Animal Sanctuary in Barnardiston.

Owner Carol Harris said she had to contact her vet for more information because Cupid was such an unusual variety.

She is also concerned that with a resurgence in popularity of Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, other terrapins could be abandoned when people realise they are not the easiest pets to look after.

Carol said: "I have kept terrapins since I was a kid and I had not seen one like Cupid before."

"He is only about the size of a £2 coin and very cute, but they do grow quite big."

"I have two that are in their 40s and they are in my will, because they could well out-live me."

"They can live to be 80 or 100 if you care for them properly, are quite expensive to feed and they can grow to the size of a dinner plate."

Little and large: Carol Harris shows off tiny Cupid and one of her own adult terrapins. Above, Cupid next to a £2 coin.

Pictures: Keith Jones 811843/811844.

She added: "My concern is that people see things on television and don't realise until they get them home how much care and attention they need."

Anyone who has lost a terrapin like Cupid can contact Jaybeth on 07505 499184.

Samuel Ward: Providing the opportunity to aspire and succeed.

Samuel Ward: Specialist in excellent outcomes

SAMUEL WARD has been performing at a very high level for a number of years, but over the last year it has got even better.

Not just because of its excellent outcomes – Year 11 and Sixth Form students attained above the national average last year – it achieved the highest value added of any secondary school in Suffolk last year, because of its positive ethos and high aspirations which has been helped by the arrival of new year seven and eight pupils.

The Academy is structured on six key principles which provide the opportunity for pupils to aspire and succeed:

- The Academy believes that pupils thrive best when they are in small groups. That is why tutor groups have a maximum of 15 pupils, years seven and eight are nurtured in their own purpose-built suite of classrooms, and all pupils are part of a 'house' system.

- Pupils are not only challenged academically but also in leadership skills. Years seven and eight are monitored over two years to ensure they attain the Leadership Award Qualification, years nine, 10 and 11 are all encouraged to take part in externally accredited leadership activity, Employability for Life, and the Sixth Form help support and teach the younger pupils.

- Hobbies and interests are a key part of a pupil's wider development and that is why enrichment is compulsory for years seven and eight for three nights per weekend, and year nine two nights per week. Pupils select from nearly 60 activities and grow in confidence and skills.

- Samuel Ward pupils are challenged to succeed as fast as possible. That is why many year 11 pupils begin AS courses in year 11, why more and more are joining some of the best universities, and the Sixth Form is expanding in numbers and provision.

- Most of the pupils arrive at Samuel Ward from small primary schools in Suffolk, Essex and Cambridgeshire, and the school believes it has a responsibility to engage with cultures from further afield. That is why more than 80 per cent of pupils study a foreign language; exchanges with France, Germany and China are thriving, and it has gained the International School Award as a result of links with countries across the world.

- Pupils are taught strong moral values through a small meeting with their learning coach every morning. This not only gives them a sense of place but engenders respect, responsibility and resilience.

Although Samuel Ward is a very popular school, and has been oversubscribed for 10 years, most pupils that apply as their first choice do gain a place.

If you would like to be a part of the Samuel Ward experience, please come and visit and fulfil its ambition: "The best way to predict the future, is to create it."

Commendable childcare: At Dizzy's Day Nursery.

DIZZY'S DAY NURSERY has been offering excellent and commendable childcare and early education for children in Haverhill for 10 years.

Graded 'outstanding'

by Ofsted, the nursery offers parents the peace of mind that their children will be truly cared for.

The families who attend Dizzy's highly recommend the nursery, and many are more than happy to tell prospective families all about their own experiences of its service.

The nursery has a friendly, welcoming and family-orientated atmosphere, created by a longstanding and highly qualified staff team. Staff turnover at the nursery is low, which benefits children and their families as they see the same friendly faces year after year as children grow up.

Parents are delighted with the Tree House, a new out of school club for children aged four-11 years. The tree house is open before and after school care, holidays and other school closure days. With a dedicated art room, garden, play room and tree house themed snug area, children are able to choose from a range of activities both indoors and outdoors all day. All meals, snacks and drinks are provided by a five star kitchen at no extra cost.

Play workers support children in their chosen activities at a minimum ration of one to eight, so that every child can feel a sense of belonging and enjoy the wonder of new experiences, knowing that friendly adults are there with them.

Staff are certain that you and your children will love Dizzy's and the Tree House.

There are currently waiting lists for children from newborn to two years and three to four years but there are some available places for two-year-olds and the out of school club.

For additional information please visit www.dizzysdaynursery.co.uk, or go to the Dizzys or Tree House Facebook page - or telephone (01440) 706246 to arrange a personal visit.

Childcare & Education Matters

Tiny Toes nursery is focused on caring

TINY TOES nursery is a truly unique business, designed with children in mind at every stage.

The company was established by Amanda Ewings, an Ofsted 'outstanding' - rated childminder, in 2009, and since then has gone from strength to strength.

The nursery, based in Haverhill, was purpose-built with children in mind, which you'll notice as soon as you step into the building, with its special low set windows just perfect for little faces to peer out from.

Tiny Toes, also recently voted 'outstanding' by Ofsted, caters for children from three months until five years, but also holds breakfast clubs, after school clubs and summer clubs for children up to the age of 14. The summer club is particularly popular, thanks to its minibus service which allows participants to go on some exciting field trips.

But it's not just older children who get out and about, with the 'forest friends' scheme to help three to five-year-olds 'learn without walls', proving a big success. The children are taken to local woodlands where they engage in creative activities such as den building, creating bird feeders and bug hides. As of April, the scheme will also be available for the nursery's two to three-year-olds.

Another activity available (at extra cost) is ballet lessons, which can be taken at Tiny Toes with visiting teacher Lisa Mason.

Visit Tiny Toes on Homefield Road, Haverhill. For more information call (01440) 702151 or visit www.tinytoeschildcare.co.uk.

Tiny Toes: An all-round approach to caring for youngsters.

My little miracle

Me and my boy: Claire and Jackson at home.

Picture: Warren Gunn 812208

For Claire Daniels, Mother's Day was nothing short of a miracle. She didn't need flowers or chocolates to make it a day to remember – she had already got the best present she could wish for in the form of her four-month-old son.

"Here he is, this is Jackson James," beams Claire, cradling a gorgeous little boy sporting trendy jeans, stripy socks and a natural Mohican.

And when you hear how Jackson came to be in his mum's arms, you can't help thinking that, if anyone deserves some good fortune, it's this pretty 23-year-old.

It started with a cough, then a pain in her throat, followed by the discovery of a lump which made her neck swell until it was as wide as her face.

Claire was just 19 when she was diagnosed with Hodgkin's lymphoma – an aggressive cancer of the white blood cells – while in her second year studying biology at Warwick University, in 2006.

Doctors told the devastated student that, although it was treatable, she might not survive. And if she did, there was a 99.9 per cent chance the treatment would make her unable to conceive naturally.

Undeterred, Claire endured eight gruelling months of chemotherapy and radiotherapy before undergoing a groundbreaking stem cell transplant in April, 2007.

That October, a year later than planned, Claire returned to university and graduated with a 2:1 honours degree in biological sciences.

She felt triumphant – especially as, a month after her diagnosis, a certain Stephen Lambert had arrived in her life.

In April last year the couple, who had moved to Cambridge in 2010 to take up new jobs, got engaged. But at the back of her mind, Claire felt a deep sadness that she would never have children naturally. And then...

"A month after he proposed to me, I realised I was pregnant," says Claire, hugging Jackson closer. "I can't tell you the absolute state of shock I was in. Suddenly, I had beaten the cancer they told me I wouldn't beat, and was having the baby I wasn't supposed to be able to have."

When we last spoke to Claire in September, she said she felt like "the luckiest girl in the world".

But, as it turned out, it was far from the end of the story. First-time mums never know what to expect, so when Claire started experiencing shortness of breath last autumn, she brushed them aside. But the symptoms gradually got worse.

"It got to the point where I couldn't walk up stairs, but I assumed it was just my pregnancy," she recalls.

"When I started to have to take lifts, work signed me off immediately and I went to the doctor.

"I sat there during the scan and expected them to say 'yup, everything is fine, see you when you give birth'. Instead they went a bit quiet.

"They said I had a resting heartbeat of 120 beats per minute. It was like I was running a marathon – except I was lying down."

Claire's fight against cancer had left her body so weak she was in minor heart failure, and her chest was flooding with excessive fluid that

Amazing: Claire and Stephen with Jackson and left, when she was expecting last year.

"It was an ordeal," she shrugs matter-of-factly of what was clearly a very traumatic birth.

"It was very technical. I was checked constantly 24 hours a day.

"It was long, very long – I watched the whole series of Downton Abbey," she adds with a mischievous grin. "Because the fluid was so bad, I couldn't speak by this point.

"I like to think I don't do things by half..."

Weighing 5lb 12oz, Jackson James eventually arrived on Sunday, November 6. Now, in the family's cosy living room in Cambridge, the woman who never thought she would be a mummy swings her son around and blows raspberries, waiting for a besotted daddy to get home from work.

And in seven weeks' time the pair will walk down the aisle in her home town of Manchester.

"I've got the dress, it's all planned, although something tells me I won't be the star of the show," she smiles, casting an adoring look at her son.

And the final hurdle is just round the corner: in August, Claire will attend the last medical appointment in the five-year waiting game to confirm she has beaten her cancer.

With that in mind, and so much to be thankful for, the Cancer Research UK employee – who sounded the horn to start last year's Cambridge Race For Life – will once again be joining thousands of other runners at the charity fundraiser on July 1. She'll be accompanied by her mum and grandmother – but minus a certain small person.

"This time you might have to watch with daddy," she mumbles into Jackson's hair. "Girls only."

"After the cancer I didn't think I would get a Mother's Day," says Claire.

"It feels so amazing to be a mum. I know that if I couldn't conceive I would have found a way to be happy. But Jackson is a miracle – we tell him so every day."

would choke her if she lay down to sleep.

She was, she admits, furious.

"I was unbelievably angry. When I got pregnant I felt like I had said 'Ha – I won't' to the cancer. Now it felt all too like it was saying back, 'no you haven't'.

"I didn't want it to ruin my dream of being a mum."

So on Tuesday, November 1, Claire checked into the Rosie at Addenbrooke's. Four days later, at just 35 weeks, she was induced and went into a marathon 54-hour labour.

Prison warning for arson man

Offender with mental health issues set fire to bed

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A MAN with mental health problems has been warned he could face jail after admitting arson.

David Sayer, 43, appeared before Bury St Edmunds magistrates on March 15, when he admitted setting fire to the edge of his bed at a single-storey property at Strasbourg Square, Haverhill, last November.

Magistrates adjourned his case for three weeks for pre-sentence reports.

Wayne Ablett, prosecuting, told the court that the police and fire service were called at 9.44am to the property, which was close to a children's day nursery.

They found a fire had started at the edge of the bed and spread to other items in the room until the whole property was filled with smoke.

No-one was inside the Guilty: David Sayer admitted starting a blaze in Haverhill last November.

premises at the time of the blaze, which was put out by the fire service.

About £2,000 smoke damage caused to the property, owned by Havebury Housing.

When interviewed by police, Sayer made full admissions but said he suffered from mental health problems and did not know why he started the fire.

Kevin McCarthy, defending, said his client was of previous good character. He added: "He is a man with mental health difficulties. He has a moderate to low learning disability and a borderline personality disorder.

"He is not currently receiving any contact with mental health services but sees his GP for anti-psychotic medication. I am asking for pre-sentence reports to be produced and I will also be commissioning psychiatric reports."

Susan Feary, chairman of the magistrates, called for reports to be prepared on Sayer and told him: "This is a very serious offence for which custody is our starting point. You must be aware of that before these reports are prepared."

Police issued a missing persons alert for Sayer last December after he vanished from a bed and breakfast in Haverhill where he had been staying. He was found safe and well in Bury St Edmunds three days later.

Health focus at Tesco

A SPECIAL day in Haverhill to encourage people to focus on their health is being organised by a pharmacist.

Free goody bags containing over-the-counter cold remedies and health drinks will be given out, combined with expert advice on minor conditions and health tests.

The event will take place at the Tesco in-store pharmacy in the town on March 28 from 10am to 4pm.

Pharmacy manager Abiola Akinsanya said: "There is so much health advice to be found by just dropping into your local pharmacy and having a chat with your pharmacist."

"We are trained to provide advice on your medication and minor ailments such as colds, coughs, minor burns and diarrhoea. We also offer tests to measure your blood pressure and blood sugar levels, all of which can be done quickly and safely without the need for an appointment."

NHS Suffolk is leading a campaign to promote local pharmacists and community health coaches.

Rooftop climb leads to arrests

ONE man was given a fixed penalty ticket and another charged after climbing on to a shop roof and throwing down pieces of metal in the early hours of the morning.

At about 2am last Friday, police arrested the two men who had been on the roof of Iceland in High Street, Haverhill.

One was given an £80 fixed penalty ticket for being drunk and disorderly and the other will appear in court for the offence on April 3.

Sgt Sarah Bartley of Haverhill Police said the incident could potentially have been quite dangerous had the items they threw hit anyone.

Fixed penalty tickets are used in this type of incident, in which a person did not have a history of previous offences.

Battling Kurt proves a true Oscar winner

Milestone event: Kurt Hatfield, who has defied the odds by celebrating his 21st birthday, despite battling life threatening illnesses all his life.

DESPITE battling life-threatening illnesses his whole life, Kurt Hatfield has defied doctors' expectations – and celebrated his 21st birthday.

Kurt, who received a life-saving bone marrow transplant in 2005 at Great Ormond Street Hospital in 2005, is still under constant medical care but is in his best ever health.

For mum Elaine, dad Graham, brother Clarke, 24, and sister Jade, 28, of Rowell Close, Haverhill, it was a landmark birthday they had never dared hope he would celebrate.

They enjoyed a Hollywood-themed party and Kurt was awarded a special Oscar.

Kurt suffers from the rare blood disorder congenital neutropenia, which previously claimed the life of his older brother Craig and also affects younger brother Clarke to a lesser extent.

The disorder means his body does not produce enough white blood cells, which surround and destroy bacteria. As a result, he has endured long periods in hospital, including a nine-month stay in 2003.

His parents were told on four occasions that he was not expected to live and he has survived 10 major operations, regularly taking 42 tablets a day up to two years ago.

He also has a second life-threatening condition – vasculitis, which causes blood vessels to become inflamed in his bowel.

Mum Elaine said: "I would just like to thank everyone in Haverhill for helping and supporting us for all these years."

"It is 31 years since I started looking after sick children and the town has always been brilliant. They sent us to Disneyland after were told he only had six months to live when he was two."

"Then, when he was 9, we were told he was not expected to live and again when he was 13 and went to Great Ormond Street for the bone marrow transplant, without which he would not be here today."

"At the moment he is absolutely fine and looks so different to how he was before. In 2007 the old bone started to reject the new bone and he was on massive doses of steroids and really ballooned out."

"He is still being followed by Great Ormond Street and we have been told that as a family we are unique, because no-one else has the same genetic neutropenia."

"I worked at the Rosie for 9 years. I used to do a nightshift and then spend the day there with Kurt. He had to spend a lot of time in a separate room because of the infection risk. At one time it was 8 weeks and he lost all his hair."

"He would never have been here without the bone marrow transplant."

"We are not allowed to find out who the donor is, but we have been writing to him."

Golfers in swing for Aiden

GOLFERS have raised a bumper total of more than £2,000 for a fund to send a little boy to the USA for treatment.

Victoria Thompson took her twin sons Aiden and Owen Thomas along to Haverhill Golf Club on Tuesday where 52 golfers took part in a charity competition organised by Phillipa Salt to raise money for the Aiden's Footsteps Appeal.

Two-year-old Aiden was diagnosed with cerebral palsy last year and also suffers from bilateral spastic hemiplegia, which causes stiffness in his limbs.

His mum Victoria and dad Gareth launched the Aiden's Footsteps Appeal to raise £60,000 needed to send Aiden to St Louis for an operation to help him walk and keep up with his twin brother.

The fundraising has now become even more urgent, as a cancellation at the hospital means Aiden can now have his operation on May 15, with only half of the money raised so far.

Victoria said after the golf competition: "We managed to raise £2,110, which is fantastic and it really surprised me that it was so much. It really helps and I am so grateful to Phillipa for organising it all."

Teeing off: Aiden's father Gareth in action at the golf day.

Tea cups raise cash

A TEA party for a breast cancer charity was a sell-out and raised more than £500.

The Pink Rose tea party was organised by Sarah Gibbs at Haverhill's Days Inn hotel raised £525 for the Pink Rose Appeal for the breast cancer unit at Addenbrooke's Hospital.

There were also stalls and people could buy special pink rose tea cups, with all proceeds to the charity. Guests of honour were town mayor Maureen Byrne and Maura Tyler, who have both battled breast cancer.

Fingerprints on envelope sealed thief's downfall

A THIEF was caught because he left two fingerprints on an envelope, a court heard.

Frederick Potter, 29, of Dunsey Wood Close, Haverhill, denied being responsible for the theft of a satellite navigation system from a parked car but on Tuesday was found guilty by a jury at Ipswich Crown Court.

The court heard from prosecutor Robert Sadd how Janice Chambers had left her silver Volkswagen on the driveway of her son's home in Haverhill on the evening of August 18 last year.

When Mrs Chambers looked out the following morning, she saw that papers had been strewn around the inside of the car, which she then realised she had left unlocked. A TomTom satnav valued at £100 was missing from the glovebox.

The car was checked and four fingerprints were found on an envelope, two of which were identified as having come from Potter.

After being arrested, Potter refused to answer police questions and a search of his home failed to find the missing satnav.

During his trial, Potter declined to give evidence in his own defence. Responding to questioning by Potter's barrister Michael Attenborough, police scientific officer Claire Summers said it was not possible to say how or where Potter's fingerprints had been left on the envelope.

However, Mr Sadd told the jury that postmarks on the envelope showed an organisation in Liverpool, which had sent it.

Officials there had confirmed that the envelope had been sent to Mrs Chambers and that they employed no-one named Frederick Potter.

Judge David Goodin made Potter the subject of a 12-month community order and said he would be required to abide by an overnight curfew at his home address for the next six months.

Potter was also ordered to pay £100 compensation for the missing satnav and £500 towards the costs of the prosecution.

The rock and roll years

DESCRIBED as Dreamboats & Petticoats meets Dirty Dancing, Save the Last Dance for Me is an all-new musical that promises to transport you back through the decades to the golden age of rock 'n' roll.

Written by Laurence Marks and Maurice Gran – creators of TV classics Goodnight Sweetheart, Birds of a Feather and Shine on Harvey Moon as well as recent West End mega-hit Dreamboats & Petticoats – the show follows two teenage sisters through the summer of 1963. Alone without their parents for the first time, the siblings embark on a holiday to the seaside where, full of freedom and high spirits, they meet a handsome young American who invites them to a dance at the local US Air force base.

But young love and holiday romance is never as simple as it sounds, and the sisters soon realise while the world around them is still watching itself in black and white, life and love can be much more colourful.

Featuring the unmistakable music of Doc Pomus & Mort Shuman – the legendary songwriting team who composed more than 500 songs between 1958 and 1965, including more than 20 for Elvis Presley – Save the Last Dance for Me promises nostalgia, laughter, romance, heartbreak and, of course, some of the greatest songs ever written including Teenager in Love, Sweets for my Sweet, Turn Me Loose, Here I Go Again, Viva Las Vegas, Little Sister, His Latest Flame, Suspicion, Can't Get Used to Losing You, Save the Last Dance for Me and many more.

■ Save the Last Dance for Me, Cambridge Arts Theatre, until Saturday, March 24. Times vary. Tickets £15-35. Contact: (01223) 503 333 / www.cambridgeartstheatre.com.

Soloists join Jesus choir

PRAISED by The Times for its "energy, verve and beguiling tone", the Choir of Jesus College Cambridge is joined by a glittering line-up of soloists led by Rebecca Bottone for Rossini's not-so-solemn Messe Solennelle at Jesus College Chapel tonight. With accompaniment from internationally-renowned pianist Roy Howat and harmonium expert Anne Page, the concert, at 7.30pm, promises an evening of "dazzling and joyous" music. Tickets are available from www.ticketsource.co.uk/date/36288.

Folk in focus

THIS year's Cambridge Folk Festival bill is filling up fast, with African singer, songwriter and social campaigner Angelique Kidjo, Indian world music star Raghu Dixit, nu-folk outfit Dry The River, fast-rising singer-songwriter Benjamin Francis Leftwich and The Staves the latest additions to the line-up. Tickets from (01223) 357851 / www.cambridgefolkfestival.co.uk Meanwhile, Sir Tom Jones is set to make a return to Newmarket Racecourses, following his sell-out show there last summer. The pop icon will perform one of this year's Newmarket Nights concerts on August 10. For tickets, call (01638) 675500 or visit www.newmarketracecourses.co.uk

It was the world's greatest mid-life crisis... and Brett was taken along for the ride. Now an acclaimed actor and comedian – on top of 800 stand-up gigs, he's starred in David Mamet's Edmond and Speed the Plow, and will soon be seen as one of the leads in Noel Clarke's new film, The Knot – Goldstein is relating his true-life adventures on his first national stand-up tour.

Marvel at the backstage secrets. Laugh at the hilarious antics of the mafia. Cry at the utter destruction of a young man's innocence. And clap politely at the end as you realise you've just sat through someone else's therapy.

Jennifer Shelton caught up with him to find out more.

■ Your show is called Brett Goldstein Grew Up In A Strip Club. Did you actually grow up in a strip club?

Well, yes. I suppose it depends on your definition of growing up. I mean, I'm sure I'm still a work in progress, but yes, the bulk of it was done in a strip club. I was a very naïve, inexperienced young man when I arrived at the strip club. I knew nothing. After a year, I knew too much.

■ How would you describe the show?

It's an hour long piece of storytelling stand-up. It is the big story from my life that I have held off telling for 10 years.

I had to let the dust settle and have some perspective on it, before it was safe enough for me to tell it honestly.

After five years of telling jokes on the circuit, I thought it was time I started sharing something hopefully a bit more substantial and truthful.

■ How would you describe your kind of humour?

I have a joke in the show about the impossibility of describing your own humour. I guess mine is confessional, anecdotal, slightly neurotic, a little bit rude and hopefully surprising.

If you used any one of these words I'd be happy really.

Except anecdotal. If you just used 'anecdotal', it sounds a bit rubbish. The 'anecdotal' Brett Goldstein. I wouldn't go see him.

■ Are you looking forward to visiting Cambridge?

I love Cambridge. I had to give a talk at the university once and it blew my mind. It really is a beautiful place. Insanely beautiful. Like a fairy tale. Or Hogwarts. And I'm used to giggling in Bedford, so it's quite the treat.

■ You were an actor and writer before you turned to stand-up. Why did you make the change?

Stand-up was the thing I feared most. I thought I would try it once and not tell anyone. The first gig, through sheer adrenaline, went well, and I was hooked. The next 20 gigs were horrendous, but I had the first one to remember so I stuck with it.

■ What's the best thing about being a comedian?

When you think something is really weird, and you are terrified to say it, and then you're on stage and you think ah, f it, I'll say it, and you say it and everyone really laughs. That is the best feeling. It makes you feel like maybe you're not insane. It doesn't always happen. Sometimes you say it and they don't laugh, and you think, no, I really am going to die alone.

news from

TOWNSEND Productions, in association with Hertford Theatre, bring Robert Tressell's classic book The Ragged Trousered Philanthropists tonight at 7.30pm. With entertaining songs and music, this play reflects on life in the workplace and the fragility of employment in difficult times. St Nicholas Hospice and Haverhill Arts Centre have joined forces to create the Haverhill Comedy Festival this weekend. On Saturday at 2.30pm, Wayne Goodman, popular magician and comedian, will give us an afternoon of family entertainment. Be amazed by his wondrous tricks. In the evening, from 8pm, you can test your comedy muscles in front of a live audience in Open Mic Night or just listen and laugh. And then on Sunday from 8pm, three of the best stand-up comedians, Marlon Davis, Elis James and Richard Morton, will have your chuckle muscles on overdrive in the Monkey Nuts Comedy Club. We promise you a weekend of fun, songs, sketches, music and stand-up, what more could you want? Professor Anthony Slinn returns to present another of his unique and entertaining talks on Wednesday, March 28. This time the focus will be on Picasso's Guernica, a work he described as 'the greatest painting of the twentieth century'. Find out more about its origins, its role as an anti-war symbol and its enduring popularity from 7.30pm. ■ For tickets and show details, contact the box office on 01440 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk

The big film

certificate 12A, 2hr 22m

TEENAGERS compete in a futuristic battle to the death in Gary Ross's eagerly awaited adaptation of the best-selling book for young adults written by Suzanne Collins.

In the future, North America has been destroyed and in its place is Panem, comprising the wealthy and powerful Capitol and 12 surrounding, poorer districts. Every year, one boy and one girl aged 12 to 18 are selected by lottery from each district to take part in The Hunger Games: a televised fight to the death in an arena under the control of the Capitol.

Sixteen-year-old Katniss Everdeen (Jennifer Lawrence) replaces her younger sister Primrose (Willow Shields) as the female representative from District 12, competing alongside baker's son Peeta Mellark (Josh Hutcherson). Their mentor, Haymitch Abernathy (Woody Harrelson), prepares the youngsters for competition against the other teenagers in a brutal and bloody test of strength and endurance. The second film in the series, Catching Fire, is pencilled in for release in November 2013.

Be waterwise this summer

MANY gardeners may be looking outside now and thinking 'what drought?'

Saving water is something we all need to think about because summer will be upon us before we know it.

We use 145 litres of water a day, yet we could harvest thousands of litres of rainwater from our household roof if we just took a little time to invest in a decent water butt and diverter or other container.

Guy Barter, RHS chief horticultural adviser, says: "There is a lot gardeners can do that doesn't involve extra watering."

"For example, spiking and feeding a lawn in spring will help it hold up in dry weather – then if it goes brown, it will recover even faster when rain returns. It's also a good idea to plant hardy plants early to avoid the hot weather and let them get their roots into the surrounding soil to search out moisture."

"When the warm weather arrives, keep any newly-purchased plants in pots under light shade until the weather turns cooler."

"Of course, gardeners in north England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland at the moment don't normally suffer

by Hannah Stephenson

from bad droughts," he added, "but by following our suggestions, they will not only be following good gardening practice but also will be preparing for the occasional very dry summers."

Soil cultivation is of key importance when protecting plants in drought conditions. If we dig in large amounts of compost, well-rotted manure or other organic matter now, it will not only improve the soil structure but will also aid water retention.

The charity advises gardeners to plant plants when they are still small, so they can develop much greater resilience by adapting to their conditions from a young age.

Planting as early as possible in spring could also be beneficial because the sooner roots can start exploring the soil for water before dry weather arrives, the better.

Mulching after planting can help limit water loss from soil and promote a good root environment, which will help the retention of moisture while plants establish.

All new plants should be thoroughly watered and kept watered in the first season in dry periods, to ensure they establish well, then they will become more drought-tolerant.

In the last decade, more products which help retain water have become available, such as new and improved water butts (check out decorative water butts at www.rsankey.co.uk), drip feeders and automatic irrigation kits, along with water-retaining gels and drought-busting biochar composts (www.carbongold.com).

Companies associated with substantial water use in the garden are recognising the need to save water. Hozelock, for instance, is working closely with Waterwise, an independent organisation focused on reducing water consumption in the UK, to develop gardening products that will help gardeners reduce the amount of water they use. It offers the following tips:

■ If you use a sprinkler, water early in the morning or late in the evening when evaporation rates are at their lowest.

■ Consider using sprinklers with area control options which can reduce wastage by ensuring that water is only applied where it is needed.

■ Use drip irrigation systems which can use up to 90 per cent less water than a standard hose and gun.

It's also worth remembering that roof water is chemical-free and soft, containing less mineral salts and deposits than tap water, and so is ideal for crops and garden plants.

Planting drought-tolerant plants, reducing our lawn size (as the lawn can use an awful lot of water to keep it looking good in summer) using peat-free compost and planting container plants in large pots (the more compost used, the longer it takes to dry out), will all help.

The RHS also stresses the importance of choosing the right plant for a particular garden soil.

If a plant is growing in the soil most suited to its needs, it will be more tolerant of varying climatic conditions.

Take these precautions now and if hosepipe bans hit your area in the summer, you'll still be able to enjoy the sunshine.

PRECIOUS DROPS: We could harvest thousands of litres of rainwater from our household roof if we just took a little time to invest in a decent water butt.

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- ☐ Take down curtains.
- ☐ Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- ☐ Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler/central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- ☐ On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

3 EXTRA HINTS FOR A SMOOTH MOVE...

WHO TO NOTIFY:

- ☐ Banks.
- ☐ Building Societies.
- ☐ Credit companies.
- ☐ Insurance companies.
- ☐ Gas, Electricity and Water Boards.
- ☐ Telephone company.
- ☐ Local Authority (Rating Department).
- ☐ Driving Licence authorities.
- ☐ Inland Revenue.
- ☐ Store cards and accounts.
- ☐ Other lease, hire or rental companies.
- ☐ Employer.
- ☐ Doctor.
- ☐ Dentist.
- ☐ Schools.
- ☐ Professional Bodies/Trade Unions.
- ☐ Motoring organisations.
- ☐ Newsagent.
- ☐ Friends and relatives.

Safety to the B-Max, says Ford

Used car values are rising

THE latest sales data from leading vehicle auction company, British Car Auctions (BCA), shows that average used car values continue to rise, despite the continuing difficult economic conditions.

The figures show that average used car values increased in February, climbing from £6,040 to £6,244 – the third highest monthly average used car value on record at BCA. The £204 rise was equivalent to a 3.7 per cent improvement, month-on-month, while the average value is also ahead year on year, by £259 (4.3 per cent).

"There is a shortage of good quality used cars generally and this having a noticeable effect on the average price at our auction centres" explained Tim Naylor of BCA. "The down-turn in new car sales which took hold in 2008 means there are fewer used cars coming back into the market."

"In addition, many businesses and company fleets are holding onto their cars for longer, undoubtedly because of economic pressures and this is also affecting supply."

According to Naylor, values stepped up last September and have remained at higher levels since then. "In the last six months, BCA has reported the three highest average monthly values on record," he added.

He continued: "However, buyers remain as choosy as they ever were, and used cars need to be in good condition to get the best price. With money tight for many motorists, there is a reluctance to purchase a vehicle in poor cosmetic condition or needing repair because they are concerned about the additional costs this represents."

Naylor concluded: "Used car buyers will always expect value for money, because buying a car represents one of the biggest purchase decisions many of us make."

Meanwhile analysis from Glass's, the valuation expert, has revealed that the current generation of motorists has moved away from the mass-market sector with sales of 'prestige' car marques such as BMW, Mercedes and Audi now making up a quarter of all new car sales in the UK.

This is compared to just 10 per cent of sales 20 years ago, suggesting we are increasingly becoming a nation of badge snobs, happy to pay a premium to get the 'right' brand of car.

However, it is not just the prestige sector which is capturing the imagination of a generation of motorists – the 'value' sector has also made huge gains in recent years, with market share of budget brands such as Skoda and Hyundai increasing 400 per cent.

This sector now makes up 10 per cent of new car sales – compared to just 2 per cent 20 years ago.

Adrian Rushmore, Glass's managing editor, explains: "Many consumers still have a perception that mass market cars aren't built to last in the same way the prestige car marques are, despite the strides that all manufacturers have made in recent years."

"Added to this, more affordable models from prestige brands have emerged in recent years with Mercedes offering the A-Class, Audi offering the A1 and BMW offering the 1 Series."

Impressive technology for mini-MPV

THE all-new Ford B-Max will reduce the risk of low-speed accidents as well as the likelihood of injuries, thanks to Ford's low-speed collision avoidance system Active City Stop.

Half a million people a year are injured in car crashes in cities in the UK, France, Germany, Italy and Spain alone. Of these, one-in-eight are hurt in rear-end shunts, the type which Active City Stop is designed to reduce in severity or avoid altogether.

"Low speed front-to-rear collisions are one of the most common accidents in urban traffic," said Roland Schaefer, safety analyst, Ford of Europe. "They can happen at traffic lights, intersections, roundabouts and other stop-start driving situations. You don't have to be travelling fast to get injured. Even at speeds of just 10mph you can suffer soft tissue neck injury."

First launched on Ford Focus last year, Active City Stop is now being launched on a compact Ford vehicle for the first time. It monitors traffic ahead and applies the brakes if it detects a collision with a vehicle in front is imminent. In tests the system is proven to prevent collisions at speeds up to 10mph, and reduce the severity of impacts at speeds as high as 18mph. The system was awarded an Advanced reward by Euro-NCAP in 2011.

Active City Stop is just one way in which Ford's all-new B-Max multi-activity vehicle is using technologies that help avoid the most common accidents on congested roads and to raise the safety bar in the city car sector.

Other helpful technologies on the Ford B-Max include: Ford's Hill Launch Assist which stops the car rolling back during hill starts or when parking on a slope; and a rear-view camera, which helps the driver to manoeuvre in small spaces and park in tight spots.

"These technologies enable B-Max to be far greater prepared for the demands of even the most congested city," said Joerg Beyer, Ford vehicle line director.

Title delight for Volt

THE Chevrolet Volt has been voted 'Car of the Year 2012', having been awarded the highest score against its competitors by 59 of Europe's leading automotive journalists.

The panel of judges, hailing from 23 European nations, crowned the Chevrolet Volt and its sister car the Vauxhall Ampera, joint champions awarding them 330 points compared to the VW Up's 281 and Ford Focus's 256 points.

The Volt, for which Cambridge Chevrolet recently opened their order books, went up against seven Car of the Year finalists selected from 35 entries. The criteria applied by the judges were based on attributes such as design, comfort, performance and especially innovative technologies as well as efficiency – areas where the Volt excels.

"We're incredibly proud to be one of Chevrolet's UK centre's for the Car of the Year 2012" said Luke Gordon, franchise manager at Cambridge Chevrolet.

"The Volt will show motorists in and around Cambridge that electric driving can be fun and reliable without ever compromising their lifestyles."

The Volt is the first electric vehicle on the market that can go anywhere anytime. A 16 kWh lithium ion battery powers the 111kW/149bhp electric motor. A distance of between 25 and 50 miles can be covered in the purely battery-operated mode, completely free of emissions. In extended-range mode, the petrol engine drives a generator that supplies the electric drive unit, powering the wheels electronically, enabling an operating radius of over 300 miles.

The Volt has also won many other international awards including the "World Green Car of the Year 2011" and the "North American Car of the Year 2011" award. There have also been accolades for safety such as the maximum 5-star Euro NCAP rating.

The Chevrolet Volt is coming soon to Cambridge Chevrolet, priced at £29,995 after the UK government's Plug-in Car Grant.

The Chevrolet Volt: 2012 winner was voted by Europe's automotive journalists.

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.

- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.

- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.

- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.

- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, home and mobile phone numbers and email address. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

Brandt makes his mark with try haul

HAVERHILL under-sevens won one and lost two against Newmarket.

They made a flying start in the first match as Oliver Garner put them ahead. But despite further tries by Kofi Brandt (2), Mason Gillingham and Bradley Peachey, it finished 55-25 to Newmarket.

Brandt scored twice more in the next match, to add to touchdowns by Arun Varia and Gillingham, but Newmarket shaded it 30-20.

Haverhill saved the best for last in a 25-15 win. Brandt got the first try, and later set up his brother Elijah to score. Peachey and a double for Oliver Garner completed the victory.

■ Haverhill under-nines were dealt a lesson in rugby by County Cup winners Newmarket. After an opening 30-0 defeat, Haverhill responded well as good hands by Rohan Varia put Craig Martin-Gowing into space to score. Newmarket levelled, but a second try by Martin-Gowing saw the visitors lead at the break.

But despite a brave second-half display, with Oscar Harwood and Theo Darvill playing through knocks, Newmarket pulled level and then scored in the last minute to win 15-10.

The final fixture finished 30-15 to the hosts, though the rucking of Varia, Ronnie Short and Hayden Lawrence allowed John Adams to feed Martin-Gowing for his third try of the day.

■ Haverhill under-eights dug deep to put on a good show in their final two matches after an opening 40-0 defeat to Newmarket.

Riley Brown got their first try of the day, and Luke Godfrey slipped a pass to Ben Warren, who weaved his way through to score. Kai Rintoul's tagging allowed Neve Quinn to run half the pitch before being tagged agonisingly close to the tryline, but Brown scored again after a great run down the left, and Aidan Denty set up the final try for Sam Davies in a 35-20 defeat.

Captain Alex Baker scored his first try for the club in the final match, and later added a second, while Brown was also among the scorers as the match finished 50-25 to Newmarket.

Seven heaven for dynamic Dynamos

Sharp-shooter: Brandon McKay celebrates scoring his 30th goal of the season in Haverhill Rovers under-12s' draw at Isleham United in the Cambridge & District Colts League, under-12B.

On the ball: Aidan Denty prepares to make a pass for Haverhill under-eights (above), while team-mate Riley Brown takes on a Newmarket opponent (below).

■ A depleted Haverhill under-12 side also travelled to Newmarket, but returned on the wrong end of a 64-12 scoreline.

Nevertheless, good kicking and tackling from Oliver Cooper, and resilience in contact by Kit Browne were positives, while man-of-the-match Ben Bradnam ran in two tries.

■ Haverhill under-11s took the lead against Newmarket as Dean Cleary broke from a scrum and fed Tristan Crook, who made ground before the ball was recycled to George Harvey to score. But the hosts ran in three tries to win 15-5.

Harvey, Crook and Harry Mumford all went close, but could not prevent a 5-0 defeat to Diss in the next match.

for their last home match of the season and, with both teams fighting for the points, the first half remained goalless.

The second half started with a very quick pace and Kedington managed to open the scoring when Sam Street, George Mustoe and Bailey Cassidy combined to release Ty Alleyne to run into the box and slide past the keeper.

Conor Rankin got the second, set up by Cam Larkin after Steven Boyles' free kick was saved.

Jack Trowbridge then passed to Ellis Wiffen, who fired across the keeper for No 3, and an own goal soon made it 4-0. Wiffen got the final goal, converting captain Jason Moore's pass after a Trowbridge corner had troubled the visitors' defence.

■ Jack Lisher's hat-trick helped West Wrating defeat Haverhill Rovers White 6-1 in the Cambs Mini League, under-10A.

Charlie Hellen fired a double and Ben Crouch was also on target.

Newman kick key as Haverhill show Plate class

Pass master: Stuart Newman recycles quick ruck ball for Haverhill against Clacton.

CP

MICKY Lansdowne grabbed the try and Stuart Newman the conversion which sent Haverhill into the semi-finals of the Suffolk Plate with a 17-15 win over Clacton.

Haverhill had a strong side on display against their Essex One opposition, but found themselves a try down after five minutes.

And the task got bigger for the hosts when Clacton scored a second, unconverted try five minutes later. On 15 minutes, Haverhill took a tap penalty to release Mike Woods to crash over in the corner and reduce the arrears.

Dom Farnell limped off injured after 20 minutes, but after a re-jig in the ranks, Haverhill drew level after 38 minutes when Clacton had their loose-head prop sin-binned and Haverhill took the scrum, with Simon Potter slipping out the back to touch down. Lansdowne's conversion hit the post, and it remained 10-10 at half time.

After 55 minutes, some good cross-field play from Alex Hieatt, Potter and Chris Flannery made the hard yards which ended with Lansdowne crashing over the line, and Stuart Newman's conversion made it 17-10.

Clacton narrowed the margin to two points with an unconverted try on 67 minutes, but Haverhill closed out the win, with the Clacton No 8 being shown a yellow card, swiftly upgraded to red for dissent, in the closing minutes.

Man of the match was awarded to Mike Woods.

Victory puts Sail on crest of wave

Cream of the crop: Haverhill's Mary Sail with her trophies.

CP

MARY Sail is Lady Golfer of the Year at Haverhill Golf Club.

She was presented with the award, based on the best 10 results throughout the year, at the club's Ladies Presentation Evening.

The presentations were made by Marian Mercer and Doreen Darby, lady captains for 2011 and 2012 respectively.

■ The winners of the 2011-12 season's monthly midweek medal competed for the Bob Hutchinson Cup (Midweek Medal Final) and incoming vice-captain Gordon Price came out on top.

Result: 1 Gordon Price 79-11-68, 2 Chris Vince 73-3-70 (lowest gross), 3 Chris Mellings 89-18-71.

■ Daniel Bentley was the runaway winner of the Junior Medal. He shot an amazing 75-16-59 and as a result has cut his handicap by four shots to 12. Second on countback was Nicole Pike with 98-29-69, reducing her handicap to 27, with Liam Merritt third (75-6-69).

■ Haverhill junior boys team played against the Suffolk county girls second team, winning 3-1 in dramatic style.

Junior captain Liam Merritt won his match 5&4, Lewis Whiting and James Higham won 7&5, but Daniel Bentley and Louis Martin lost 7&5.

James Iron and Mitchell Davis were all square coming up the 18th, but they finally overcame the opposition with their last putt to win their match and the competition overall.

■ The father-and-daughter partnership of Chris and Alice Iron were the winners of the Winter Mixed Foursomes.

They saw off Jane Herrington and Richard Peck in the quarter-finals, before beating Marian and Peter Mercer in the semi-finals. They went on to meet the partnership of Denise and Jim Walker in the final, winning 8&7.

Rovers' cup bid is left in tatters

Haverhill Rov 0 Lowestoft Tn 3

Suffolk Premier Cup, semi-final
A STRONG Lowestoft side were simply too good for Haverhill and ended their hopes of a cup final at Ipswich Town's Portman Road with a convincing victory on Tuesday night.

Jack Higgs had a good chance for Rovers when he fired wide in the fourth minute, but Town went in front in the 20th minute through Robert Eagle and, after Craig Calver had a shot saved, Chris Henderson extended their lead five minutes later.

Stuart Kingham headed wide in the 51st minute as Rovers tried to get back into the game, but the match was settled in the 66th minute when Lowestoft's Matt Nolan scored their third goal from a quickly taken free kick.

Wivenhoe Tn 1 Haverhill Rov 1

Ridgeons League, First Division
HAVERHILL clung on for a point at Wivenhoe after the second-half dismissal of Joe Harvey.

Rovers went a goal up with barely a minute on the clock when Craig Calver was bundled over in the box and tucked away the spot kick himself.

Calver had a further chance after he intercepted a weak cross-field pass after 22 minutes, driving into the Wivenhoe penalty area before shooting over.

At the other end, skipper Marcus Hunt made an outstanding last-ditch tackle to deny Markel Greenridge a gilt-edged opportunity, before Wivenhoe centre-back Tom Cutts, who terrorised the Rovers defence all afternoon, went close with a header from a corner.

With a minute remaining before the break, a raking pass from Louis Harper set Calver though, but his shot was high and wide.

Wivenhoe started the second half on the front foot with Tom Moore testing Aaron Benstead in the Rovers goal within the first minute.

Scott Wilby then ghosted into the Wivenhoe penalty area before shooting into the side-netting.

A free kick from Wivenhoe substitute Liam Dadds crashed against the Rovers bar in the 50th minute, and four minutes later the hosts gained their deserved equaliser when Cutts headed a cross into the path of Ben Connell, who bundled the ball into the net.

A weak back pass from substitute Paul Abbott saw Benstead forced into a smothering save at the feet of Ray Catchpole in the 61st minute.

And, after Joe Harvey was sent off for a second bookable offence with just over 20 minutes left, Rovers hung on, with Sam Holmes and Billy Gage performing valiantly in defence.

Haverhill host Woodbridge Town in the league on Saturday, before again locking horns with Wivenhoe, this time at home, next Tuesday night.
